Agnew Continues Sharp Attacks On Left-Wingers

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resumes his political safari today, stalking such quarry as "the troubadors of trouble," the "covey of confused congressmen," the "vicars of vacillation"—and, above all, the elusive radical liberals.

After taping a television appearance in San Diego today, the vice president makes a campaign stop in Las Vegas, Nev., primarily in behalf of William

Ted Kennedy Hits Agnew

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says "apostles of force and destruction on campus" are making easy the task of "politicians of panic."

The Massachusetts Democrat, in a speech Sunday night inaugurating the new academic year's Distinguished Lecture Series at Boston University, said:

"Turmoil on the campus lends itself to the wittiest and basest forms of political rhetoric. The kind of demagogery we hear from our vice president and others provides a thick smoke screen behind which some elements in our society can hide what they themselves are really doing to this nation."

"For those who pander to public emotion and perplexity at events on campus are also those who allow the war to continue, and who disorder our national priorities so that we invest in SST's and ABMs instead of teachers and health care for our sick."

"And so, in large part because mainstream America is preoccupied with concern about the campus, we all suffer."

U.N. Assembly Opens Meeting; Weakness Eyed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 25th session Tuesday amid mounting demands that it be given broader powers to enforce its decisions in the peace-keeping field.

Diplomats are using the occasion to take a close look at the organization's weaknesses and possible steps to prevent it from eventual collapse.

Many already have expressed the view that member nations must consider yielding some of their sovereignty to the international body, thus giving it the needed authority to put teeth in its decisions.

As delegates of the 126 member countries began arriving Sunday for the three-month session, a White House commission issued a report in Washington noting what it called deep-seated weaknesses in the United Nations and recommending steps to strengthen it in peace-keeping, narcotics control, environmental protection and discouraging aircraft hijacking.

Some of these questions already have been under discussion among U.N. diplomats, and they are expected to get major attention by the 60 to 70 heads of government and heads of state who will attend the anniversary commemorative segment of the Assembly session Oct. 14-24.

Most agree that the organization has lost the confidence of large segments of the public because of its inability to deal effectively with the Vietnam war, the Soviet military intervention in Czechoslovakia, apartheid in South Africa and the long Middle East conflict.

Tim Leary Flees Jail In California

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Timothy Leary, the former Harvard psychology instructor who became a guru to the nation's drug culture, has escaped from prison.

The only clue authorities had today was Leary's blue denim inmate clothes, found in a service station rest-room a few miles away.

Leary had been at the California Men's Colony 200 miles north of Los Angeles since shortly after being sentenced March 16 to a six month to 10-year prison term on a marijuana possession conviction.

6 States Hold Primaries; Massachusetts Of Interest

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

Six states hold primaries Tuesday with the big races a four-way—donnybrook for the Massachusetts Democratic nomination for governor and Sen. Joseph D. Tydings' renomination drive in Maryland.

At stake in the six states are five Senate seats and five governorships.

Added focus will be on three Roman Catholic priests running for Congress—one in Rhode Island and two in Massachusetts.

In the Massachusetts governor's race, Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, 44, and state Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, 59, the Democratic convention endorsed candidate, are running neck-and-neck. Polls disagree on the outcome.

Former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti, 46, and Kenneth P. O'Donnell, 45, former aide to President John F. Kennedy are expected to trail. The winner will face Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent, 55, who is unopposed in the primary. Sargent took office when John A. Volpe resigned to become secretary of transportation last November.

Of the five Senate races, interest will center on former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, starting his political comeback by trying to capture the seat being vacated by Democratic Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Minnesota.

Humphrey, who lost the 1968 presidential race, is expected to defeat his Senate challenger, Earl D. Craig Jr., 31, a Negro teacher at the University of Minnesota who has been campaigning on a shoestring budget.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, 48, now serving his fifth House term, faces nominal opposition for the Minnesota GOP Senate nomination from grocer John D. Bacone Jr., 34.

In the four other Senate races incumbent Democrats are expected to win renomination—Sens. Edward M. Kennedy in Massachusetts, Henry M. Jackson in Washington, Tydings in Maryland and John O. Pastore in Rhode Island.

Tydings' race against three opponents is of special interest because he is a GOP target seat. Republicans are expected to choose as his Nov. 3 opponent Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., 43, son of the man Tydings unseated in 1964.

The sixth state, Oklahoma, will have only a Democratic gubernatorial runoff between Tulsa attorney David Hall, who led a four-man field Aug. 25, and Bryce Baggett, an Oklahoma City state senator.

Midnight Rail Strike Looms Auto Tieup Seen Certainty

U.S. Mediator Reports Little Talk Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little progress was reported today in efforts to avert a nationwide railroad strike threatened by four AFL-CIO unions as of 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

Labor Department spokesmen appeared glum as they fought to keep negotiations moving toward a settlement of the wage dispute.

Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery, the Nixon administration's top mediator, met over approximately 50 Fayette County railroad employees were marking time again Monday in anticipation of a nationwide walkout at midnight. An earlier strike call six days ago was cancelled. Picketing is planned on the local level in event of a walkout tonight.

the weekend with officials from the unions and railroads, both privately and jointly.

"Everybody is conscious of the deadline," one Labor Department official said. "But I'm afraid there's not been much progress."

"There's always hope. But at this time there has not been as much action as would have been preferred."

At the least, however, both parties agreed to more talks today.

As a last-ditch effort to keep the trains moving, President Nixon could invoke a 60-day strike delay under the Railway Labor Act.

The dispute involves railroad clerks, trainmen, track maintenance workers and dining car employees. The unions want three-year wage hikes of 40 per cent or more, cost-of-living pay and other benefits for 500,000 workers who now average $3.50 an hour.

The United Transportation Union, which is involved in the midnight strike deadline, also has threatened a strike on Sept. 23 in a separate dispute over the elimination of locomotive firemen's jobs.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eleven persons died and 22 persons are unaccounted for in a pre-dawn fire that swept a 60-year-old, four-story hotel at the edge of the city's downtown garment district.

Officials said that many of those who jumped or came out of the flame-filled Ponetique Hotel Sunday on knotted bedsheets left the scene without telling anyone.

Middle East Turning Back To Old Ways Of Terrorism

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In the tormented Middle East the past often mocks the present. A history riddled with terror has convinced not a few that violence works where patience fails, that ruthlessness brings results.

Hijackings and terrorism of captive passengers are perpetrated by persons professing to have lost faith in the ability or willingness of the world community to answer to their complaints. But it has been so for decades. Violence has signaled other violence; terror has foretold counterterror. Often it worked, and often one side found itself mirroring the other.

Today the Arabs have armed organizations which span the political spectrum from far left to right. Some Arabs deplore the acts of their brethren, not so much because of the terror itself as because of the possible impact on world opinion.

A generation ago the Zionists

Jews of Palestine had armed organizations spanning the political spectrum. Some exponents of violence were disciplined members of a paramilitary little respite from violence in the Middle East, and in today's sensitive world, with superpowers armed to the teeth for overkill, each explosion tends to be more nerve-wracking than its predecessor.

Zionism echoed the dreams of Jews, dispersed 1,900 years ago by the Romans and persecuted since in many countries, to return to the homeland of Saul, David and Solomon. Theodor Herzl, Zionism's prophet, said force, others extremists whose acts sometimes were denounced by their own brethren as damaging to the cause.

The 20th century has brought solved only by making it a political world question."

It was made that soon enough by such things as the discovery of Middle East oil riches, the growing importance of the new Suez Canal and by a development which came to be referred to as "the Arab awakening."

For four centuries Arabs were under the domination of the Ottoman Empire of the Turks. Now, propagandized by the British they were fired with dreams of independence to follow the rights of the resident Arao.

But Britain, needing help elsewhere, also made a fateful promise to the Zionists: The Balfour Declaration of 1917. It pledged British support for a Jewish national home in Palestine, without prejudice to the rights of the resident Arao.

was pronounced dead at the scene.

Yugoslavian Couple Tells Of Being Held Aboard PlaneCLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

A Yugoslavian couple that had been aboard the Swissair plane hijacked Sept. 6 by Palestinian rebels arrived in Cleveland Sunday to visit their two children.

Mrs. Ladislav Jurkovic said she started crying when she got off a plane in Cleveland because "it was so wonderful."

"We wanted to come here as fast as possible," she said. "When we returned to Zurich (after being released), we were offered a free two-day stay in the city. But we refused. My husband told the airline officials just to get us to the United States as fast as possible."

The Jurkovics' had three suitcases of clothes, a suitcase of expensive gifts and a bottle of homemade brandy with them when they got aboard their original Swissair plane at Zurich and headed for New York. They had only the brandy and the clothes they wore when they arrived in Cleveland.

"We regret the loss but we are just so happy to be here safely," Mrs. Jurkovic said of the missing items, including hand-carved wooden bowls and statues and precious crystal ware. They had saved money for several months to purchase the items as gifts for son Zeljko, 24, who has lived in Cleveland for two years and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kreismer Kuhar of suburban North Olmsted.

When they told us to hurry off the plane and leave everything behind, I quickly snatched our small handbag and ran out with it behind my back," Jurkovic said in explaining how he salvaged his prune brandy.

Parking Key Factor In Office Location

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Rent, parking availability, commuting time and nearness of public transportation were rated the most important office selection factors in a recent survey of 1,000 company presidents.

The survey, sponsored by Seay & Thomas real estate firm, Chicago, and Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Hartford, revealed that 46 per cent of those downtown firms planning to relocate in the next two years will move to outlying areas while only 18 per cent of those already in outlying locations contemplate a return to downtown.

Only five per cent listed high rental rate as a major disadvantage and most said they were willing to pay increased rates for buildings that offer additional services. Biggest single complaint of in-city companies: lack of parking space.

Firemen Probing Two City Blazes

Two fires reported to the Washington C. H. Fire Department Saturday remainder under investigation and damage to a car involved in a third fire Monday morning was listed as heavy.

Firemen were called to 519 S. North St. at 3:32 p.m. Saturday where a blaze was in progress in a two-story barn owned by Gary McDaniels.

Firemen said children playing with matches were suspected of touching off the fire in an upholstered chair stored on the upper floor. Damage was confined to the chair and a small section of flooring.

Firemen John Rockhold, en route to the fire driving the department's Seagrave pumper, collided with a parked car on Cherry Street. Damage was minor to both (see accident story).

A trash and brush fire burning on Flint Drive at 11:30 p.m. Saturday brought firemen to the scene. Officers are investigating to determine who set the blaze. No damage was reported.

Damage was listed as heavy to the motor compartment and hood of a 1964 model car driven by Barry Jones, White Rd., after it blazed at 7:44 a.m. Monday at the Washington Avenue-Columbus Avenue intersection.

Firemen said gasoline flooded the motor compartment and apparently ignited from a spark.

Leper Colony Offers Treatment-And Hope

By C. C. MINICLIER

BALUBA, Uganda (AP) — Improper burial of a grandparent, a witch doctor's curse and other superstitions are locally accepted as reasons for acquiring the disease.

Indeed, even educated patients sometimes flee when confronted with the laboratory diagnosis. Others accept it with resignation.

Since Biblical days lepers have been feared and scorned. Here there is hope.

ALL OF the 300 to 500 resident patients have some sort of job, and all receive free medical treatment as well as education, training and specially built shoes or artificial limbs, depending on need.

The 100-bed hospital treats leprosy symptoms and all the other ailments and diseases which afflict residents or outpatients.

"In the old days they used to come here and stay until they died. Now if we catch it early enough and start treatment, some may leave in 12 to 18 months," says Sister Aelred of the Irish-based Franciscan Missionary Sisters for Africa.

Founded in 1934, by the Franciscan Missionary Sisters, Baluba began with three mud huts. Sister Felicity, who runs the pharmacy today, remembers the early years when patients and sisters dug ditches to keep hippos out of the vegetable patch on the shore of Lake Victoria.

NOW there are more than 50 buildings including cheerful communal dining halls and quarters for families.

Baluba's only doctor, Wanda Blenska, of Poland, arrived in 1951, found she was needed, and stayed on to become one of Africa's unsung bush doctors.

She performed nine operations one day recently; cares for all resident patients and sees perhaps 300 outpatients a week; lectures visiting medical students and handles the "unexpected" in her spare time. Greeted as "Mama" by many patients, her easy manner helps those confined for long periods.

ONE such patient, an elderly woman, has lost her sight and is losing her voice.

due to leprosy. Her toes and fingers have disappeared. Drugs to help her were discovered too late.

But today such cases are unusual. Modern drugs can stop leprosy's progress, and physical and psychological therapy can teach its victims to lead normal lives.

The World Health Organization estimates that there are three million registered leprosy patients in the world. But spot surveys by WHO suggest that more than 10 million persons have leprosy.

WHO's figures, from 1966, list 177,000 registrations in the United States, with a guestimate of 358,000 actual cases; 1.7 million in Africa with at least that many more unregistered, 915,000 in Asia with a guestimate of 6.4 million and 16,000 registered in Europe out of a guestimate of 33,000 with leprosy.

LEPROSY victims lose all sense of feel in the infected areas and horrible burns and cuts are frequent, painless injuries. Victims are unable to safely hold objects with their fingers because they don't know how tightly they are gripping.

Doctors estimate that five persons in a thousand are susceptible and the incubation period may range from 3 to 20 years.

Aid from OXFAM and private British and German foundations, the Uganda government and a self-help spirit at the Baluba farms keeps Baluba going. Its sparkling laboratory is one of dozens of research centers around the globe searching for better medical treatment.

None of those who have worked here have ever contracted leprosy, according to the sisters.

The Argeement With Spain

It is no wonder that the administration rushed through the agreement extending for five years the United States' lease of military bases in Spain. The administration was attempting to sidestep adverse criticism — which has come, predictably and with good warrant, from Chairman Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and also from other members of that committee.

It is argued in support of the renewed agreement that the United States needs these bases because they are a part of our worldwide, and especially European, defense posture. The fact is, it becomes more clear every day that the postulates on which this defense posture rests are changing.

First, the system of defense we have maintained since World War II is based on the assumption of attack on Western Europe by the Soviet Union or Eastern European powers. Although such a fear may have been legitimate in the late 1940s, perhaps even into the mid-50s, there is little doubt now that the Soviets have no intention of launching such an attack.

Second, the face of Europe is currently undergoing drastic changes. The most notable indicator of this is the recently signed pact between West Germany and the Soviet Union. Even as recently as five years ago, such a pact would have been unthinkable. Now it is a reality, and there are hints that the Soviets and the West Germans may be on the road to working out an agreement with Spain can be faulted on the fact.

The Businessman And 'Social Responsibility'

THESE DAYS....

By John Chamberlain

MUNICH — If what is being said here at the sessions of the Mont Pelerin Society is any indication, the coming year on American campuses will see some tough showdowns between nihilistic students and the more conservative professors who are fed up to the teeth over the breakdown of academic order.

The educators here, along with the economists in attendance, are drawn from two score universities in the United States and the rest of the world.

The suppressed rage against the way things have been going in the university world has cropped up in discussion after discussion nominally devoted to exploring the place of the business enterprise in contemporary society.

It has been a common observation that the intellectuals of the Western world have little use for the businessman. In previous years the free market economists have included such eminent people as ex-Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, creator of West Germany's "economic miracle." In promoting freedom for the enterprisers they were able to take the negative attitude of the intellectuals in stride. This year, however, everything is different.

THUS, Dean G. M. Wattles of Rockford College in Illinois said here at the sessions of the Educator's View of the Entrepreneur" to denounce the "Princeton Plan" for excusing students for two weeks in the autumn to campaign against anybody and everybody who is fed up to the teeth over the Nixon foreign policy.

The spreading idea that the university must become a "social agency" for action in the political realm has some of the educators very worried. It could mean the end of tax exemption for the colleges and also the end of important private financial support.

The most scathing analysis of American higher education came from Prof. James M. Buchanan of Virginia, who said the American college student has merely taken to acting out what he has been taught.

In Buchanan's view the seeds of contemporary anarchy were planted 30 years ago by faculties that have nothing but contempt for traditional Western and Christian values. Until very recently, however, the anarchy remained outside the realm of ideas.

Boys and girls were free to espouse all manner of heresy within the cloistered collegiate walls, and the professors were free to encourage the most egregious intellectual fantasies.

Dean G. M. Wattles

has departed from the printed text of a paper on "The American long as three external institutions — the family, the church, and the law — saw that the campus commitments to radical subversion did not leap into the streets.

Order within the family structure, says Prof. Buchanan, was preserved by sanctions. (Papa either spanked or cut off the allowance). The church warned of divine retribution. The law insisted on penalties for wrongdoing.

When our daughter was a baby, I found her pacifier in our bed. I thought it had dropped out of her mouth while she was in our bed, but later I found the pacifier in the drawer of our night stand table, and I couldn't figure for the life of me how it got there.

Then one morning I woke up early and saw my husband sound asleep with the pacifier in his mouth! We had a good laugh over it, and that evening when I fixed the baby's bottle I jokingly asked him if he wanted a bottle, too. He said yes, so I fixed him one.

He loved it, so I kept fixing him a bottle right along with the baby's. I took the baby off the bottle when she was 14 months old, but my husband still has one every night, and he is 37. Please don't use our name as my husband is well known here. He works on the space program. Thank you.

HAPPY WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Give my regards to your husband. He is out of this world. And so are you.

DEAR ABBY: You did this office a tremendous disservice when you came out with the statement, "Slacks are now acceptable for afternoon wear almost everywhere."

In our Board of Realtors, numbering in the hundreds, only one woman wears slacks in the office and to show property, and the rest of us wish she wouldn't. This gal has a big broad fanny.

What good are they if they are not training anybody to sustain a decent social order?

Why should the taxpayer or the private donor work himself to the bone to turn his children over to a type of education that is expressed by bombing laboratories in Wisconsin and burning ROTC buildings in California and Ohio?

I personally think slacks should be manufactured to size nine only. Any woman who needs a bigger size should take a good look at herself in a rearview mirror.

PROFESSIONAL WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Aren't you forgetting that many women wear slacks not so much for "looks" but for comfort and practicality? We all can't be size nine.

DEAR ABBY: I had a brief affair with an employee. She is considerably younger than I. We are both married. She, not I, broke it up and I am still very hurt about it.

me.

Miss Athey, Mr. Gatewood Wed Saturday Evening

Before an altar decorated with vases of white gladiolas, blue chrysanthemums and blue ribbons, and candelabra with green and blue satin bows, Miss Mary Lou Athey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Athey, Rt. 3, became the bride of Carl Robert Gatewood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gatewood, Bogus Rd. The Rev. John Armentrout performed the double ring service at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Grace Methodist Church.

The flower girl wore a white floor-length dress with empire waist and blue ribbon. She carried a basket of blue mums and baby's breath, with ribbon streamers.

Following a selection of nuptial music, played by Mrs. Gene Hughes, Miss Emily Rowe, vocalist, presented several selections.

Miss Athey, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza gown with bodice, full bishop sleeves and Mandarin neckline of Swiss embroidery.

Her chapel-length sweep train was trimmed also with embroidery and her headpiece was a face-framing bonnet of Venice lace, the veil three tiers of pouf illusion, one tier chapel-length. The train was converted to a bustle for the reception.

She had a colonial bouquet of white pom-poms with blue baby's breath entwined.

Maid of honor for Miss Athey was her sister, Donna, and another sister, Mrs. Dale Mickle, of Dayton, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Vipperman, of Bechtel, Mrs. Allen Redd, of Bloomingburg, Miss Karen Blake, of Dayton, and Mrs. David Kelley, of Columbus. Miss Stacey Lynn Mickle, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Tom Gatewood, the groom's cousin, was ring bearer.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length navy and white frocks, accented with ruffles around the neck and down the bodices of white silk organza, with the A-line skirts of navy textured silk. They wore Six Miami Trace High School students will be among more than 2,000 youngsters at the fifth annual Youth and Science Conference next Saturday at Ohio State University.

County Extension Service Agent Phil Grover, who handled the registration here, said Keith Bockard, Jeff Fetter, Lynn Myers, Mykki Callendar, Nadine Eltzroth and Gary Gunlock will attend the one-day conference designed to enlighten the students on the application of science "to the production of food and fiber while maintaining a high quality of environment."

The theme of the conference is: "Youth and Science — Seeking, Solving, Serving."

Conference speakers during the morning will include Edward F. Knippling, director of the Entomology Research Division, USDA, who will talk on "Integrated Control — Now and in the Future." Knippling will follow a welcome address by Dr. Roy M. Kottman, dean and director of the OSU College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the Extension Service.

Bench Declared Vacant

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — For a short time in 1935 Rhode Island had no justices to sit on its supreme court. The general assembly, in an all-night session, declared vacant the seats on the court and that of the sheriff of Providence County. It later named new justices and another sheriff.

"What kind of justice is this?" he asked, adding that court changes now under way should speed up justice.

High Speed Trains To Las Vegas Studied

NEW YORK (AP) — High speed trains may one day link Los Angeles and Las Vegas, according to Frank L. Whitney, president of Walter Kidde Constructors. In a study commissioned by the Southern Nevada Industrial Foundation and the Los Angeles Department of Airports, Kidde Constructors found that 300-mile-an-hour, air-cushion vehicles traveling on U-shaped guideways would be economically feasible. The system could be in operation by 1980, and could produce a net operating revenue of 30 million a year after 1990.

Is That Language Really Necessary?

YOU and the LAW

EDITOR'S NOTE: This legal column is prepared by the attorneys of Ohio under supervision of the Ohio State Bar Association. It is not intended to advise anyone on a specific problem.

"Whereas, XYZ, hereinafter sometimes referred to as the party of the first part does agree to sell to the party of the second part the aforesaid and aforesaid articles . . ." This phrase is probably tagged by most readers of this column as "legal language," just as a sentence with a lot of "thee's" and "thou's" might indicate "religious language."

Are all the "whereas" and "aforesaid" necessary — or is this simply language used by the lawyer for the purpose of confusing the layman?

Lawyers have long been accused of inserting needless phrases or archaic language in contracts, deeds, wills and other legal papers just so they could "keep the business for themselves." However, some of the phraseology is necessary to exclude any ambiguous meanings.

There are attempts being made to simplify legal language, not only for the layman but the attorney. Where some contracts might refer to a BLOOMINGBURG — Like many other Fayette Countians, Larry Smith, of Bloomingburg, was watching the Jerry Lewis Telethon for the Muscular Dystrophy Association Fund.

During the show he became rather emotional, according to his mother, Mrs. Clarence Fitch, and decided to donate his entire savings of pennies to the fund.

Unlike many persons, Larry knows what it means to have muscular dystrophy and he knows the kind of work the association does.

He has had the disease since he was born 21 years ago and has been confined to a wheelchair for the past 10 years.

The pennies totaled about $30. He had been saving the money to buy records, one of his main interests.

WHEN FRIENDS and neighbors found out about his unselfish act, they also decided to make donations to the fund. An additional $90 was raised.

Mrs. Fitch tried to locate a local person or agency collecting money for the fund, but couldn't, she related. So about 4:30 p.m. on Monday, while the show was still in progress she drove to Channel 6 television station in Columbus to add her son's contributions to the fund.

Larry had been collecting the pennies from money his mother brought home over the past year.

"Whenever I have loose change I give it to him" she said.

Mrs. Fitch is a Stanley dealer in the Chillicothe district.

Funds from the Muscular Dystrophy Association previously were used to purchase equipment for use by Larry.

Marsteller Panelist At Retail Conference

Delbert E. Marsteller, executive vice president of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce will attend the annual Retail Executives Association meeting at Granville Inn Thursday and Friday. He will take part in a panel discussion of "Retail Promotions" at the conference which is sponsored by the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants.

Among the speakers will be State Auditor Roger Cloud, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, and E. W. Lampson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Ohio House of Representatives.

Mount Whitney, rising 14,495 feet, is the tallest mountain in the United States outside of Alaska.

PENNIES FOR OTHERS — Larry Smith, Bloomingburg, donated his piggy bank with more than $30 in it to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund during the annual Jerry Lewis Telethon last week. When friends and neighbors heard of his decision, they contributed an additional $90. Larry, 21, was born with muscular dystrophy. His mother, Mrs. Clarence Fitch, watches as he begins to save more pennies.

Time Nears For Decision On Death Penalty

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dennis McGautha is served breakfast on a tray but his luxuries end there.

A prison guard shoves the tray through a slot into a four-foot wide cell where McGautha eats his two meals a day alone.

The 44-year-old Negro is one of 89 men in San Quentin's death wing. He's not nearly as famous as Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, a prison neighbor who was convicted of assassinating Sen.

Robert F. Kennedy.

But the fate of all 89 men and of more than 550 men and three women in death cells across the land may depend on McGautha and on another unknown convict in Columbus, Ohio, named James Crampton.

This fall, probably in early November, the Supreme Court will hear lawyers for McGautha and Crampton argue the death penalty is dealt out in a manner that violates the due process clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

Should the court disagree, the way will be cleared for what could be one of the grimmest seasons of executions in recent history.

There hasn't been an execution in the United States since June 2, 1967, when Colorado gassed Luis Jose Monge for the murder of his wife and two children.

Even before the rate of executions had been declining and when the Supreme Court agreed three years ago to hear the due process arguments, it had the effect of blocking further executions until a decision is reached.

In the interim the cells filled.

At the beginning of 1966 there were 345 men and women under death sentence. A year later the number jumped to 406, in 1968 to 434, and in 1969 to 479.

The McGautha and Crampton appeals do not raise the familiar argument that the death sentence is banned by the eighth amendment's prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment."

The court heard arguments on that point in March 1969. Characteristically, its decision skirted the issue and set aside the conviction of Edward Boykin, a Mobile, Ala., Negro, on another ground.

Through the years, though, the court has indicated the "cruel and unusual punishment" provision forbids "the infliction of unnecessary pain in the execution of the death sentence" but not the death sentence itself.

Although the death penalty falls hardest on Negroes, McGautha's lawyer, Herman F. Selvin of Beverly Hills, Calif., says he does not intend to present the argument that blacks as a group are victims of racial discrimination.

However, in a friend-of-the-court brief, the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund says the argument must be considered.

Even without the Eighth Amendment and racial discrimination arguments, the McGautha and Crampton appeals are broad enough to upset all but a handful of current death sentences.

At San Quentin, McGautha, an itinerant chauffeur who once worked for a Los Angeles judge and actor Peter Lawford is alert to the prospect of making legal history. Lawyer Selvin says he spends much of his time reading accounts of legal decisions and writing to his attorney.

There isn't much else to do. Up at 8 a.m. for breakfast. Mingle with other prisoners from 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. in a 200-foot-long walkway in front of the court house. He's confident that the Supreme Court will rule in his favor."

Top Ohio Candidates Back Mental Health

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Republican and Democratic candidates for governor and U.S. senator gave "total commitment" Sunday to expanded mental health programs in the state.

Gilligan, the Democratic candidate for governor, pledged to reverse Ohio's "record of inexcusable neglect and bring treatment of the mentally ill into the 20th century."

Gilligan branded present programs "an inhumane catastrophe."

Democrats John J. Gilligan and Howard Metzenbaum and Republicans Roger Cloud and Robert Taft Jr. each addressed a working session of the Ohio Alliance for Mental Health here Sunday.

Dr. Victor M. Victoroff, chairman of the group, said "We are hoping that each of the candidates would have an understanding of our problems and some sympathy. We came away with much more."

All the candidates pledged to improve mental health leadership, remove mental health programs from the vagaries of politics and to provide "realistic" budgetary support for present and future programs.

Expert Sees Economy Starting New Upswing

By JOHN CUNNIF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After a steady descent since last fall, the economy not only has bottomed out, says Raymond Saulnier, but is regaining its strength for a new advance to be sustained by consumer spending.

The recovery, he says, may in fact have already begun and should last into 1972, although the longer term outlook is still clouded by the threat of continued inflation.

Saulnier, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Eisenhower, bases his views on projections made by the National Bureau of Economic Research for Commercial Credit Co.

"Some would say the signals are only amber," he comments in Commercial Credit's "Consumer Buying Prospects," to be released later this week, "but this observer is prepared to say they are green."

Asked to expand on his views, with which many economists disagree, Saulnier commented:

"I can say that I have as much conviction as to the possibility of this upturn as I have ever had about a cyclical turn.

To think is one thing, to have conviction is another. I have a high degree of conviction on this one."

Now a professor of economics at Columbia University, Saulnier believes that any period of the previous trend."

Consumer retrenchment, such as has occurred during the past 18 months, loses its energy as the weeks add up.

Automobile purchases, for example, cannot be postponed indefinitely, and neither can the acquisition of large appliances, both of which show signs of strength in the National Bureau's projections, which are based on U.S. Census data.

During the Consumer's tight-fisted period, personal income continued to rise, Saulnier notes, making the return to the marketplace far easier than if buyers were pressed for cash.

Moreover, the flow of funds to thrifit institutions is quite likely to aid consumers in obtaining mortgages for long postponed housing purchases. He calls attention to the recent increase in housing starts as the beginning of a trend.

The possibility of an automotive strike does pose some threat, but even should a strike occur, Saulnier feels, it is hardly likely to upset his forecast.

"I'm persuaded that a strike, even a major one, does not alter the basic cyclical trend," he said. "When you have a strike you get a drop in numbers, but when it's over the series (of economic statistics) continues on to do," said Saulnier, adding that this would mean a rate of $105 billion in the final months of 1971 compared with a rate of only $82 billion at the beginning of 1970.

The stock market, for example, may already be reflecting an upturn, as said, anticipating a possible sharp rebound in the financial fortunes of many large corporations that recently have suffered a profits squeeze.

"I figure corporate profits, which will be about $84 billion before taxes this year, could be around $95 billion in 1971 if the economy does what I expect it to do," said Saulnier, adding that this would mean a rate of $105 billion in the final months of 1971 compared with a rate of only $82 billion at the beginning of 1970.

The big threat over the longer term, Saulnier feels, may well come from a continuation or a rekindling of inflation. The administration, he feels has not smothered the flames, and if the economy moves ahead briskly during this fall and winter, the flames might be fanned higher.

Overall, however, Saulnier concedes that his position is a little embarrassing or an economist. "I'm optimistic," he said.

Farm Bureau Organization Director To Retire Oct. 1

FRANK ALEXANDER

(Dr.) And I have several things in mind for parttime work."

Alexander was born in a little town near Danville, Ill., where his father, the late Rev. W. S. Alexander, was a Methodist minister. But, as the son of a minister, he has lived in Illinois, Indiana, Wyoming, North Carolina, New York and Ohio.

He received his bachelor's degree from Elon College, Burlington, N. C., in education. But instead of going into teaching, he decided to get into boys work with the YMCA; so he received special training for that at the YMCA school in Nashville, Tenn. The next 14 years was spent with YMCAs in Richmond, Va., Oklahoma City and New York City.

When he had "all I wanted" of the big city life, he came to Fayette County while his father was the pastor of the South Solon church in Madison County and had a farm in Fayette County near Bookwalter.

Alexander went to the farm, but in a couple of years joined the Fayette County Farm Bureau as its organization director and has been there ever since. In that capacity, he devoted his time to building up the membership, which now tops more than 600 farm families, and developed a wide variety of programs.

His last official task was to plan the 51st annual meeting last week in the Mahan Building.

Hay fever afflicts about 1 in 20 Americans. However, hay is only one of its causes and it hardly ever results in fever. In hay fever, a special sensitivity to some ordinarily harmless substance results in inflammation of the lining of the nose. Sneezing, repeated and prolonged, is the most common symptom, along with a stuffy and watery nose. There also usually is redness and itching of the eyes, nose, throat and mouth.

Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare James Farmer will address the group Tuesday night.

Educators Hold Meet In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Some 100 educators are meeting here this week to produce programs of higher education for the poor and other minority groups.

The five-day gathering, which opened today, is sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board and Antioch College's program for interracial education. It was set up by Ofie Wortham, a Ph.D. candidate from Yellow Springs.

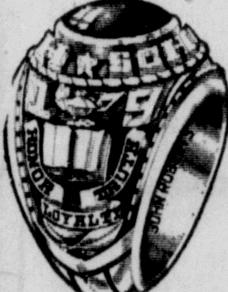

Wortham said the educators—from as far away as the University of Alaska—hope to develop workable programs, while discarding those proved in the past to be failures.

Wortham said the conference should help guide colleges and universities to meet "the needs and aspirations of youths who have previously been shortchanged and handicapped by circumstances beyond their control."

He said the conference will consider the problems of all minorities — Negroes, Indians, Eskimos, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans and poor whites.

Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare James Farmer will address the group Tuesday night.

Total estimated damage resulting from accidents during August was $17,150, or an average of $285.83 per accident. The year's total damage estimate so far is $141,356, or approximately $16,506 ahead of the corresponding 1969 figure.

Known offenses committed in the city during the reporting period totaled 80. Petty larcenies led with a total of 22 complaints.

There were 11 check frauds, three burglaries, five grand larcenies, three auto thefts, an aggravated assault, 14 cases of malicious property destruction, two sex offenses, concealed weapon offense and a forgery case.

Chief Scott sees a correlation between an increase in arrests for disturbing the peace incidents and an increase in fraudulent check cases recorded during the month. "I feel," he said, "that many persons involved in drinking incidents don't have the money and have to obtain their funds by other means."

The increase in accidents has been brought about by increased traffic, he said. "This points out a need for improved traffic flow through the city, something the city has been planning for some time," he added.

CITY OFFICERS issued 74 traffic citations during August to bring the year's total of traffic arrests to 507 — 50 more than during the same period last year. Speeding, reckless operation, failure to stop within an assured clear distance, traffic light and stop signs violations and failure to yield right of way were the citations made most frequently.

On the criminal side of the ledger during August, a total of 125 persons were arrested, bringing the year's total to 795, or approximately 40 more than during the same period last year.

Ten persons were arrested for intoxication, another 10 for disorderly conduct and one for disturbing the peace counts, six for breaking and entering, two for forgery, five on check on Jan. 16, 1773.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

For almost a decade now, Michigan State University has been providing home gardeners with what it terms "tailor-made" vegetables, which also are very important to highly mechanized agriculture.

Literally, the breeders are "reshaping" vegetables, with higher quality, more yield, strong resistance to disease and increased appeal to the eye. For the mechanized farm, they must adapt to uniform harvesting, high density planting.

Development of disease-resistant varieties, the University says, improves wholesomeness, minimizes the cost and potential danger of chemical spray programs by reducing the need of them.

The "tailor-made" effort means keeping in contact with processors and vegetable growers throughout the world and adjusting varieties to meet new, modern trends.

HERE ARE some of the items we are writing about:

Carrots, Spartansweet, fresh long, slender market carrot that will be available for commercial planting by 1971. Spartan Bonus, a squat processing carrot, also ready by 1971, has high internal and external color, absence of internal greening, and good flavor and texture.

Green cauliflower to contrast with the ordinary white. Keeps its color even after cooking.

Celery, experimental, non-bolting that keeps its quality in the field at maturity.

Broccoli, varieties resistant to club root disease and which can be harvested by machine are being tested (big, single heads on long leafless stems.)

Lettuce, scientists are concerned about developing attractive, green varieties resistant to aster yellows and bottom rot diseases, with heads higher above the soil, more upright wrapper leaves.

Tomatoes: Tomatoes are being made more shapely, more disease resistant and better adapted to harvesting. Some better-looking greenhouse type; cherry and pear-shaped. New ones are Moto-Red, a greenhouse variety; Rapids, a Breeder's are working on a type on which no stem will be left on the tomato when it is picked.

Namath Accuracy Stifles Cowboys

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Namath, a late reporter, helped close out the National Football League exhibition season in the kind of form the New York Jets hope will get them off to a fast start in regular-season play.

Namath, who was late reporting to training camp because of personal problems, looked sharp Sunday night in guiding the Jets to a 29-21 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in the Cotton Bowl.

The Houston Oilers whopped the Philadelphia Eagles 26-7 in the only other game on the final day of the exhibition season. Play for keeps starts next Friday night when the St. Louis Cardinals play the Rams in Los Angeles.

In Saturday night's games, Pittsburgh topped Oakland 20-6, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 17-14, Washington downed Baltimore 17-14, Cleveland shaded the New York Giants 30-29, St. Louis upended Kansas City 34-24, Detroit whipped Cincinnati 31-14, Atlanta outlasted Miami 20-17, Green Bay trounced Buffalo 34-0 and New Orleans beat San Diego 20-14.

In the game at Philadelphia, Houston's Charlie Johnson completed 13 of 22 passes for 199 yards and a touchdown and the Oilers' defense stopped Philadelphia cold until about midway in the fourth quarter.

Rookie quarterback Terry Bradshaw threw two touchdown passes in Pittsburgh's victory over San Diego.

McLaren Team Loses

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

The golden era of Team McLaren's domination of road racing in North America came to an end in the red clay hills of Georgia Sunday.

The driver who did it was 38-year-old Tony Dean, a Britisher whose 182-cubic inch Porsche Spyder 908 shouldn't even have been racing against the likes of the 600 horsepower McLaren Chevrolets.

Dean, a balding veteran of many European courses, mostly in small machinery, happened to be the guy who was sitting in the right position at the right time as the more powerful contenders dropped out one by one in a wreck-marred Canadian-American Challenge Cup race at the new Road Atlanta Circuit 40 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Cincy Loses To Padres, 5-4; Gives San Diego Series Win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — George "Sparky" Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was kidding on the square Sunday when he said he was happy to leave here with his life.

"I can still smile, but it would be different if we didn't have such a big lead," he said after the San Diego Padres made off with their fifth straight victory 5-4, and became the first team to sweep a three-game series from the Reds this year.

"I have to give that team a lot of credit," he said of the Padres, who won the season series from the Western Division leaders, 10-8. "I don't care what place you're in, you've had a heck of a season when you win 10 games from the top club."

"People don't realize how fast San Diego is developing. I know—I coached there last year."

It was a two-run, eighth-inning pinch double by an unlikely hero, Larry Stahl, that netted the Sunday triumph for the Padres and they are one short of a club record for consecutive victories as they prepare to open a series tonight at Los Angeles.

The Padres have Gerry Nyman, 0-1, scheduled to face the Dodgers' Claude Osteen, 14-13, in a battle of left-handers. The San Diego team will be minus its leading hitter, centerfielder Clarence Gaston, who has missed the last four games with a pulled muscle in his back.

"If they play the Dodgers the way they've played us, they could win it for us," said Anderson. The Reds' "magic number" was five when they arrived here Friday and they had hoped to celebrate a divisional championship by late Sunday.

Instead, their magic number has been reduced only to three, thanks to the second-place Dodgers' two weekend losses at San Francisco. The champagne the Reds bought on Friday was still on ice as they flew to Houston for a series starting Tuesday.

The winning double Sunday by Stahl, a .150 hitter who had driven in only one run all season, kept the Padres from wasting the strong five-hit pitching of Clay Kirby, 10-15, Gary Ross and Paul Doyle.

"It's great to reach double figures," said the 22-year-old HBP-By Simpson (Colbert). PB-Bench T-2:46.

Joanne Carner Wins Women's Golf Clash

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — Joanne Carner, a 31-year-old rookie on the pro tour, got a big break and went on to win the $40,000 Wendell-West Women's Invitational Golf Tournament in a sudden-death play-off.

Mrs. Carner bogeyed the first sudden-death hole but took the $6,000 first prize when Marilyn Ross double-bogeyed.

But Indians Manager Alvin Dark disagrees.

"That was as good as I've ever seen him pitch," Dark said of Hargan's feat Sunday that led Cleveland to its fourth straight victory and provided New York's fifth straight loss.

Sam Snead Wins Senior Golf Clash

PORTRUSH, Va. (AP) — Sam Snead has won his third world professional senior golf championship and given the United States a 14-3 lead over Great Britain in the series—but for a long time Sunday he looked like a loser.

The 58-year-old Snead was four down at the halfway mark of the 36-hole match after British champion Max Faulkner fired a three-under-par 69 over the 7,000-yard Bide-A-Wee Golf Club course operated by another former senior titleholder, Chandler Harper.

But the 54-year-old Faulkner bogeyed two of the first four holes in the afternoon and Snead birdied the other two, and suddenly they were all even again.

That should have given Faulkner an indication of things to come, but the Briton—who only previous appearance in the event was a 2-up loss to Harper two years ago at Dundee, Scotland—went back in front by two holes when Snead bogeyed the 23rd and 24th holes.

Snead pulled even again with a birdie on the 27th with a 10-foot putt and a Faulkner bogey hole of the afternoon round, on the 28th, and they still were tied for the lead.

Snead was two under par and Faulkner five over for the 16-hole match, but they still were tied for the lead.

Nicklaus Wins World Series Of Golf Tilt

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The big guy with the golden name sat there and looked positively embarrassed, a sheepish grin crossing his face when someone informed him he had averaged almost $20,000 a round for his six appearances in the World Series of Golf.

"Is that so?" replied Jack Nicklaus, who then shrugged.

Nicklaus appeared on the verge of collapse in the front nine over the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course Sunday in the final round of the World Series.

In those nine holes he had recorded four bogeys, missed three fairways and five greens, was in four traps and missed five putts under nine feet.

And Dave Stockton, the 28-year-old PGA champion, had pulled into a tie with him in the chase for the $50,000 first prize in this event that brings together the holders of the world's four major championships—the Masters, PGA, U.S. and British Opens.

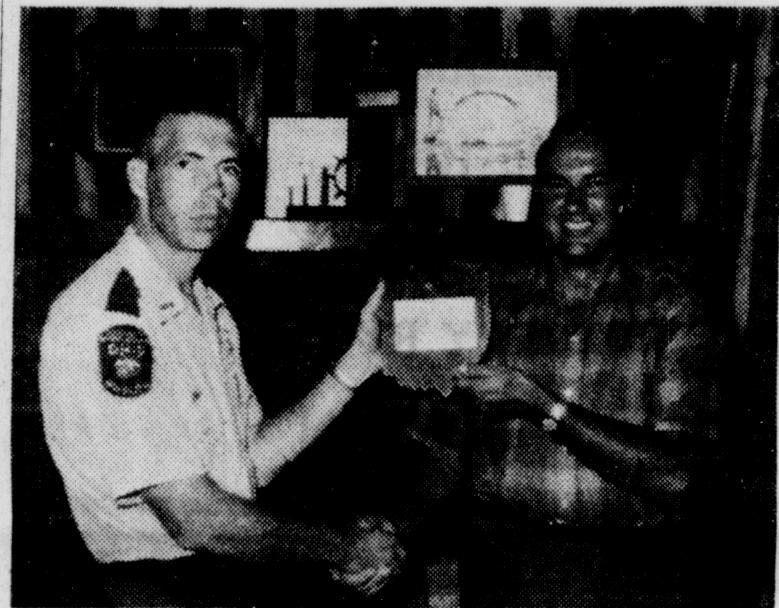

"I was terrible on that front nine," Nicklaus said. "Just terrible."

"I began to think I wasn't going to win it and I thought, 'I've got to get started, got to get some momentum, got to get it going.'"

He did with three consecutive clutch puts starting on the 13th. Nicklaus birdied that one from 15 feet, rolled in another from 17 feet on the next hole and saved par with an 18-footer on the 15th.

1970 Conservation Award

CONSERVATION AWARD — Fayette County Game Protector Jerry Cremeans (left) presents the 1970 Conservation Award to Alvin Armintrout, Hess Road, for his farm management procedures which increased habitat for wildlife and afforded increased hunting opportunities for Ohio hunters. The award is given once each year to the person in Fayette County who has done the most for wildlife conservation.

Town Tavern Takes Fourth In Tourney

Town Tavern's softball team competed in the Circleville Invitational Tournament over the weekend, finishing fourth in a sparkling array of teams.

Armintrout operates a 660-acre farm in the eastern part of Fayette County. During 1970, according to the citation, Armintrout operated the farm in such a manner that wildlife was afforded more habitat, feed was made available to birds and animals and a pond and stream on the property were managed to promote wildlife.

Approximately 60 F & G members were present for the award presentation. The family day at the grounds was discussed and reports about its success were given.

Two work days have been scheduled by Club President Ron Burns for the maintenance and beautification of the grounds on Stafford Road. They will be Sept. 19 and 27, Burns said.

Burns also noted that three members have been appointed to the kitchen committee and that James Noel, Dayton, donated a steambale range and hood for the lodge's kitchen.

When Bret Hanover set the harness racing record of 1:53 3/4 he became the third straight son of the great stallion Adios to hold the world pacing mark.

Roger Davis, adviser to the club's Junior Rifleman Club, said meetings will resume on the first and third Sundays of and Remy of Waverly, the state runner-up.

Town Tavern defeated Columbus Post Office Friday night, 7-0, and Saturday night defeated Rangers, 15-8. On Sunday afternoon, the TT boys lost to Hunter's Insurance, 13-6, defeated Circleville Merchants, 7-2; and then lost to Brown and Remy, 10-7.

TV Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Senator," a new segment of NBC's tripartite series "The Bold Ones," made its debut Sunday night with an action story combined with a point of view.

Hal Holbrook plays a dream senator-wide, brave, middle-of-the-road, happily married, concerned and understanding of problems of the day. In the premiere the senator was booked for a speech at a college where there had been student unrest.

He planned to speak on "the uses of dissent" and received an anonymous telephone threat on his life if he filled the date. The rest of the hour was primarily concerned with police efforts to protect him. But it was also a study of various reactions to the threat. There was some almost incidental counterpoint about life in high political echelons—a call from the White House about a pending vote, a news conference in which he fielded hostile questions. There was some mention—it came close to editorializing—of such subjects as student demonstrations and the controversial "no-knock" provisions of the Washington D.C. crime law.

If the senator's impulse to sermonize can be slightly curbed and the writers make him a bit more human, "The Senator" will be an attractive and substantial addition to the network schedule.

NBC's adaptation of the Broadway musical "George M." on Saturday night was an elaborate, 90-minute production that never got off the ground. The problem was format, not performers.

The idea was that a group of actors were rehearsing a musical play based on the life of actor-writer-producer George M. Cohan. They would talk a bit about the man and then slide into the song and dance numbers.

None of the characters seemed to be even remotely real, not even Joel Gray in the

Burglary Suspect, Sought Since June Faces Court Today

Fayette County sheriff's deputies over the weekend arrested a 44-year-old Bainbridge man who had been sought since June in connection with the burglary of two house trailers on Jamison Road.

Taken into custody was Raymond Whitley Jr., who faces arraignment today in Municipal Court on burglary charges.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur said Whitley, along with another Bainbridge man and Whitley's 12-year-old son, allegedly broke into the two house trailers at the Morris Lumber Co., Jamison Rd., during the night June 25.

All of the items taken, totaling more than $500 in value, were recovered a few days after the break-in, McArthur said.

Gary Keaton, of Bainbridge, and Whitley's son, were convicted in separate courts in July, both receiving probation.

Reds Blunt Cambodian Bid To Recapture Road Stretch

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Enemy troops smashed the vanguard of the Cambodian government's first major offensive of the war today, forcing Cambodian soldiers back after an abortive attempt to recapture an important position in the country's heartland.

Enemy gunners fired more than 400 mortar shells into forward positions of the government soldiers in the village of Taint Kauk, 55 miles north of Phnom Penh, and followed the barrage with ground assaults and volleys of rocket grenades.

Forty Cambodian soldiers were killed and nearly 50 wounded in the attack that lasted from just after midnight until past dawn.

Communist losses were given by government commanders as 20 dead left on the battleground and an estimated 200 more dead and wounded carried away during the night.

The government operation was aimed at reopening 50 miles of Route 6 from Skoun to the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh. The 50-mile segment has been in enemy hands for three months.

Although an amphibious force broke the siege of Kompong Thom last Wednesday in a strike up a flood swollen river from Cambodia's huge lake of Tonle Sap, success of the entire operation would be judged on the government's ability to reopen route 6 and retake more than 1,000 square miles of rich rice and food producing area.

In other battlefield action:

—The North Vietnamese kept up their siege of Fire Base O'Reilly in the northern quarter of South Vietnam despite an eighth straight day of heavy air strikes by American bombers. Enemy gunners poured more than 100 rounds of mortar shells into the base near the Laotian border and South Vietnamese positions around it and clashed with government infantrymen Sunday.

—The U.S. Command in Saigon announced today more cutbacks in American forces and said troop strength has dropped to 396,300, the lowest level since January 1967.

The contract for repairing the ditch was awarded to Robert Cushman, Mechanicsburg. His bid of $19,560 was the lowest of the three submitted.

The engineers had estimated cost of repair at $22,028.

Work on the ditch is to begin within 60 days and be completed by spring.

Monday afternoon Fayette County commissioners will be receiving bids for insurance on all county vehicles, including road equipment.

In an address Sunday to delegations to the seventh International Congress of Newspaper Vendors, the pontiff said:

"This most delicate and grave question involves not only the spiritual and moral disunity of your conscience before God—as of your entire category which is so sacrificed for the service of public opinion—but also the safeguarding of the most sacred values of man in the face of present day spread of unbridled license which finds no parallel in the so-much honored history of journalism."

New, Stricter Drug Laws Effective This Wednesday

New drug laws that include punishment for improper use of gasoline, glue, paint and other volatile solvent agents will go into effect Wednesday, Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, points out.

The new laws, passed during the last session of the Ohio General Assembly, will make it easier for lawmen to prevent the abuse of these materials, Thompson said, adding that until this time the hands of lawmen had been tied in preventing these dangerous practices.

Any agent used to cause intoxication or other similar physiological effects are included under the new law, he said. Included are gasoline, paint and thinners, glue, solvents, aerosol
